Alan Grainger Design Consultant	Current
GGLO, Founding Principal	1986 – 2016
The Bumgardner Architects, Principal	1975 – 1985
Dennis & Partners, London, UK	1973 – 1975

Over the past 40+ years I have been a part of many significant projects in the Pacific. From 2010 until retiring, I led the interdisciplinary master planning team working with the Seattle Housing Authority, that led to the entitlement and redevelopment of Yesler Terrace neighborhood. I also worked with SHA to secure the Federal funding from a Master Plan for High Point in West Seattle. My other work for housing authorities included the redevelopment of both the Greenbridge and Seola Gardens communities for King County Housing Authority. These projects all included the replacement of extremely low-income housing into a denser neighborhood setting that added market rate housing, both for rent and for sale. They often involved community presentations to groups speaking a variety of languages. I continue to provide design consulting services to KCHA.

My work included a variety of urban multifamily projects in both the affordable and market rate categories. These ranged from low-rise townhouse and apartment projects such as Lionsgate in Redmond, to midrise apartments over retail, such as Broadway Crossing for Capitol Hill Housing, and to high-rise apartments such as ASA Flats & Lofts for UNICO, in the Pearl District of Portland. I also led the historic renovation of the Cobb Building in downtown Seattle. In addition to the large-scale master planning efforts and the broad range of housing types, I have been in the leadership role for a variety of small hotel and inn projects throughout the Pacific Northwest, including The Allison Inn and Spa, The Inn at Langley, Friday Harbor House, and Heron Beach Inn at Ludlow Bay.

In the past, I have also served as a Design Advisor to the Portland Development Commission, ensuring that projects involving public investments were of excellent design quality.

Over the years I have volunteered in a variety of ways, serving on Boards for several non-profit, educational or civic organizations. Most recently I have joined the Board of the Fauntleroy Community Association and am completing three terms (3 year) serving the City of Bainbridge Island as Chair of the Design Review Board.
