Background: Rodney Schauf is the Director of Engineering at the Sheraton Seattle Hotel. He has been involved in the hospitality industry for the last 30 years; 27 of those as a facilities manager. Rodney has lived in several areas around the United States and has lived in the Seattle area, both in Belltown and now in Renton for the past 17 years. Rodney is always looking for and testing new and innovative ideas. He was an early supporter of some of the first resource conservation products introduced, such as compact fluorescent lighting and low flow plumbing fixtures. Under Rodney's leadership, the Sheraton was recognized as one of Washington's top 50 green companies in 2013. The Sheraton has also been recognized by the Seattle 2030 District for smart building analytics.
