Background: Zelda received a BA in Political Science and MA from the University of Washington. During her 38-year career she focused on civil rights while working for the US Department of Education, Office for Civil Rights and the Washington State Human Rights Commission. She held a number of positions including researcher, trainer, technical assistance coordinator, branch chief and as an investigator for public accommodations, housing, and employment discrimination. She currently volunteers for RESULTS an anti-poverty organization and AARP where she writes letters, and advocates on behalf of seniors with members of congress, Washington legislators and local policy makers about Medicaid, economic security, housing, hunger, fraud, health care and safety net programs. Zelda has a passion and desire to eliminate poverty, and assure health care is available to everyone.

Experience Overview

During my 38 year career, I worked in civil rights, specifically addressing employment and educational issues. My positions included researcher, senior investigator, branch chief and technical assistance coordinator.

Objective

I have retired from my formal career and am exploring meaningful volunteer work.

Abbreviated Professional Experience

US Department of Education, Office for Civil Rights, 1980 to 2015

I worked to ensure equal access to a quality education for all students. During this time, I held various positions, including senior investigator, branch chief, and technical assistance coordinator. I was involved in issues of age and disability discrimination as it related to educational programs. I provided training and technical assistance to elementary, secondary and postsecondary institutions to assist them in complying with the regulations enforced by the Department of Education.

Washington State Human Rights Commission, 1977 to 1980

I investigated housing, employment and public accommodations discrimination complaints.

Professional Organization

Toastmasters International, DTM, 1985 to 1999

Education

University of Washington, BA in Political Science, 1972-1974

University of Washington, MA in Public Administration, 1975-1977

Qualifications for the Aging and Disability Service Advisory Council

I would like to be appointed to the Advisory Council on Aging and Disability Services because I have an interest, passion and desire to be involved in eliminating poverty, and fighting for the availability of health care for all, including seniors and people with disabilities.

My experience with seniors includes working as an investigator for the U.S. Department of Education, Office for Civil Rights where I investigated cases alleging age and disability discrimination as well as other areas of discrimination.

My volunteer experience includes being a grass roots volunteer advocate for RESULTS, an anti-poverty organization that has both a domestic and a global program. As a volunteer advocate, my primary activities include meeting with and lobbying members of congress, meeting with congressional aides, writing letters to members of congress, writing letters to the editors, writing op-eds, and attending town hall meetings, all with the objective of trying to influence policy decisions that will bring an end to poverty both domestically and globally. Specific issues include Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP), Medicaid, income and wealth inequality and tax reform as it pertains to spending cuts to health care and the safety-net programs.

With respect to AARP my volunteer experience is similar, i.e., advocating on behalf of seniors to address the challenges of housing, Medicare/Medicaid, hunger, income, isolation and fraud.
