Subject: Wage Theft Prevention and Harmonization Ordinance of 2015

Briefing Objective

The Office of Labor Standards will summarize highlights of a proposed ordinance that makes comprehensive changes to Seattle’s labor standards through increasing remedies, strengthening enforcement and harmonizing the ordinances for the benefit of workers and business.

Stakeholder Engagement

From June through November 2015, staff from the Mayor’s Office and the Office of Labor Standards engaged with stakeholders in over 26 meetings. Three of these meetings involved large groups of more than 30 business and community stakeholders; five meetings involved smaller groups of stakeholders with more focused interests. All of the meetings featured extensive discussion of proposed ordinance revisions and were accompanied by a “topic chart” that evolved with stakeholder input. In October, OLS provided the draft legislation to stakeholders upon request and received a significant number of comments, many of which were incorporated in the final proposal.
