The City of Seattle is committed to being a safe, vibrant, interconnected, and affordable city for all.

Week Overview

Week seven of the 2018 legislative session was focused on public hearing and executive sessions of bills in the opposite house. The opposite house policy cutoff was on February 23rd and the opposite house fiscal cutoff is February 26th. Bills that do not move out of opposite house committees by this date are considered dead unless they are deemed necessary to implement the budget (NTIB). After the fiscal cutoff on February 26th, the legislature will shift back to floor action. This is where they will remain until the conclusion of session.

Supplemental Budget Proposals

Following the release of the quarterly revenue forecast the week prior, both chambers released their proposed supplemental operating, transportation, and capital budgets last week. The supplemental budgets include changes in the second year of the biennium to funds allocated in the original capital, operating, or transportation budgets.

Operating Budget: The House and Senate introduced their respective operating budget proposals. The biggest difference was that the Senate budget funded the teacher salary increases in the 2018-19 school year, which would meet the State Supreme Court's most recent court order related to the McCleary decision. The House budget as introduced did not fund this salary increase. House Appropriations and Senate Ways & Means each held public hearings on their proposals on Tuesday. Both chambers were anticipated to debate and vote on their respective budgets on Friday. The Senate adopted the proposal (SB 6032) with several amendments and passed on the Senate floor along party lines with a vote of 25-23. The House brought proposal (HB 2299) to the floor and went through 40 of the 60 proposed amendments on Friday, but then ultimately did not bring the budget to final vote. They are expected to vote on the budget on Monday evening. While there were several amendments adopted on the House budget, the most significant is the striker amendment proposed by Rep. Ormsby, which fully funds the school staff salary in the 2018-19 school year as the Senate budget does.

The House funds the changes in their budget through the increase in state revenue, transfers from the budget stabilization account, and a capital gains tax. The Senate funds their budget through the increase in state revenue, a similar transfer from the budget stabilization account, and then several smaller revenue related bills. The Senate budget does not include a capital gains tax.

Transportation Budget: The House and Senate both released their proposed transportation budgets on Monday last week. The House Committee on Transportation held a hearing on the House proposal (HB 2469) on Tuesday and passed it out of committee on Wednesday. The House will not be moving their bill, they will instead wait until the Senate bill comes over to them. The Senate Committee on Transportation also had a hearing on their proposal (SB 6106) on Tuesday and passed it out of committee on Wednesday. The Senate proposal was brought to the Senate floor for debate and vote on Friday when it ultimately passed off the floor with a vote of 47-1.

Capital Budget: The Senate released their proposed Capital budget (SB 6095) on Monday last week. The bill received a hearing in Senate Ways & Means on Monday and passed out of committee the next day. It was brought to the Senate floor for debate and vote on Friday and passed off the floor with a vote of 44-4. The House released their proposed Capital budget (HB 2395) on Wednesday last week. The House Capital Budget committee received a hearing on the proposal on Thursday and have scheduled executive session this coming Monday. The two proposed Capital budgets are different from each other, including that the Senate version doesn't fund any of the escalations that resulted from the delayed passage of the full 2017-19 Capital Budget while the House proposal does. These differences will need to be ironed out in budget negotiations.

Property Tax Relief

In the 2017 legislative session, the state fundamentally changed how the state pays for K-12 education. This change resulted in an increase of the state property tax rate with a cap on local levies that could be adopted within a school district. This legislation, commonly referred to as a levy swap, has significant implications all over the state. In 2018, both the original (and higher) local levies and the higher state rate will be assessed resulting in higher overall tax bills for 2018. This has led to pressure on lawmakers to smooth the transition to the new school funding method in the coming years.

The following is a summary of the main proposals that have been introduced relating to property tax relief.

Bill &amp; Sponsor	HB 2993 (Rep. Sullivan)	SB 6614 (Sen. Mullet)
Change in property tax (The aggregate state property tax rate is $2.70 per $1,000 in assessed value for 2018, 2019 and 2020.)	This proposal would lower the state rate to $2.365 in 2019 and $2.30 in 2020, $0.335 and $0.40 reductions respectfully.	This proposal would lower the state rate from to $2.35, a $0.35 reduction for 2018.
How the change is funded	Transfers $996 million from the Budget Stabilization Account (BSA) to the State General Fund (requires a 60% majority vote to pass)	Transfers $431 million from the Budget Stabilization Account (BSA) to the State General Fund (requires a 60% majority vote to pass).
Applicable Years	The state property tax reduction would apply to collections in 2019 and 2020.	The state property tax reduction would apply for 2018.

Both the House and Senate budget proposals included funding for their respective property tax relief proposals (HB 2993 and SB 6614).

A Primer on Title-Only Bills

During legislative sessions title-only bills are introduced like any other legislation. These bills lack any legal text except for a title such as "Concerning State Appropriations", "Relating to Health Care", or other broad areas. These bills are typically used as place holders for legislation required to enact the final budget deal. To amend a bill the content of the bill must relate to the title, so having a broad title allows the option to have a wider scope of issues within the bill. Once language is agreed on for a particular issue, the title-only bill is amended to include that language so that it may be voted on and passed by the legislature. By introducing title-only bills the legislature makes sure that there is a bill where they can insert compromise language on complex issues later in session after cutoffs.

A Primer on the X-Files

You may have seen activity on some bills late this week saying they have been moved to the House or Senate Rules 'X' File. After certain cut-off dates, the Rules Committee sometimes places bills in the x-file if they are no longer available for consideration (aka dead). Bills placed in the x-file are removed from all calendars and daily status sheets. Many companion bills that have House bills alive were moved to the Senate X File late this week.

While the Law Department testified with concerns at the hearings for the original versions of the bill, we worked to have our concerns addressed. All our recommendations were included in the version of the bill that passed out of Committee. While these bills did not advance before the cutoffs, this bill has been determined to be NTIB. We have shifted over to the city attorney's preferred approach, which is delinking failure to pay a traffic ticket from having one's license suspended. We have also worked with DOL to make some significant changes to the effective date and to bring the fiscal note down. A relatively large amount of the highway safety fund is funded through the fees people currently pay to reinstate licenses after they are suspended. So, while there is upfront savings from our approach, it does have a long-term impact on the fund because fewer people are having their licenses suspended. ..title

A RESOLUTION addressing a proposed liquefied natural gas facility in Tacoma, and urging the Puget Sound Clean Air Agency to improve tribal consultation procedures and collaborate with regional mayors, leaders, and tribes to address the growing impact of climate change.

..body

WHEREAS, Puget Sound Energy (PSE), a for-profit company, is developing a liquefied natural gas (LNG) facility at the Port of Tacoma in the Tacoma Tideflats for the purpose of producing, storing, and distributing liquefied natural gas; and

WHEREAS, the regional 2008 Northwest Ports Clean Air Strategy set ambitious goals for reducing emissions from ships and other port-related sources and improving regional air quality; and

WHEREAS, most cargo ships in the Puget Sound region currently run on diesel or bunker fuel, and emissions from ships are responsible for 63 percent of maritime-related diesel particulate matter emissions; and

WHEREAS, vessels operating in Puget Sound must meet appropriate federal emissions standards; and

WHEREAS, the Seattle City Council considers climate change to be a threat to people everywhere in the world, and a vital concern for the people of Seattle and the Northwest; ~~and data shows that LNG is one choice to fuel some ships and provide natural gas to residential and commercial customers to reduce sulfur emissions, harmful diesel particulate matter by 90 percent, nitric oxide and nitrogen dioxide emissions by 90 percent, and carbon dioxide emissions by 35 percent over that of diesel or bunker fuel;~~ and

LNG Amendment 2 – CM Sawant

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF SEATTLE THAT:

***

Section 2. Due to the disproportionate impact of the proposed LNG facility on tribal lands, and in light of the lack of tribal consultation in spite of the significant presence of tribes in the area, the Seattle City Council urges the Puget Sound Clean Air Agency (PSCAA) to:

A) Improve its tribal consultation procedures and engage in a government-to-government relationship with tribes on matters related to PSE's application; and

B) Collaborate with regional mayors, leaders, and tribes to address the growing impact of climate change; and

C) Promote investments in clean energy that will reduce regional reliance upon fossil fuels; and

D) Include an examination of hydraulic fracturing in the Supplemental Environmental Impact Statement that was announced in January 2018; and

E) Provide timely information regarding the environmental impacts of any proposed facility affecting tribal land prior to any hearings on these facilities; and

E)F) Reject PSE's application for a permit for the proposed LNG facility.
