ORDINANCE _____

COUNCIL BILL

AN ORDINANCE relating to residential rental properties; requiring a minimum of 180 days' prior written notice to tenants whenever the housing costs to be charged a tenant are to increase; and amending Sections 7.24.030, 22.202.080, and 22.206.180 of the Seattle Municipal Code.

WHEREAS, Article 25 of the United Nations' Universal Declaration of Human Rights recognizes housing as a human right; and

- WHEREAS, notwithstanding a temporary drop in rents in 2020 due to the pandemic and recession, which fell hardest on low- and moderate-income households, Seattle faces an affordable housing and homelessness crisis as rising rents have forced thousands of Seattle renters out of their homes, neighborhoods, and the City; and
- WHEREAS, between 2010 and 2018 average rent in the Seattle area rose 69 percent while inflation for Urban Wage Earners (CPI-W) in the Seattle area rose only 20.3 percent; and

WHEREAS, in large part due to high rents, Seattle is the fifth most expensive U.S. city to live in; and

- WHEREAS, in 2021, as Seattle residents begin recover from the pandemic and recession, they are experiencing landlords once again raising rates well above the rate of inflation; and
- WHEREAS, rental housing industry analysis firm ApartmentList.com calculated that Seattle rents increased an astounding 3.5 percent just between March and April 2021, the fifth largest month-over-month increase among the nation's 100 largest cities, which is an annualized rate of 42 percent rent increases with a trend expected to continue, as "the days of plummeting rents in pricey coastal markets are officially behind us"; and
- WHEREAS, ApartmentList.Com data also show that between January and April 2021, rents across the board in Seattle for apartments of all sizes increased by nine percent, putting rents on track to more than rebound in 2021 from the temporary 2020 drop; and
- WHEREAS, the "Seattle Housing Market Forecast for 2021" of real estate investment consulting firm Mashvisor, notes that "Seattle real estate investors are continuing to enjoy a good return on investment on rental properties. . . .Although affordability continues to be an issue for local residents, it does have a positive aspect for Seattle real estate investors. Owning a rental property in Seattle does mean high demand which translates into good occupancy rates and cash flow"; and

WHEREAS, Washington State and The City of Seattle currently require that landlords provide tenants with only 60 days' written notice before imposing any rent increase, an insufficient amount of time for Seattle renters to adjust to the increase or seek out a new, affordable living situation; and

- WHEREAS, because current State and City protections have not been sufficient to stave off large rent increases, many Seattle renters have had to leave the City, sometimes with little time to prepare; and
- WHEREAS, the more the rent increases, the longer time a tenant may need to accumulate the savings needed to pay the increased rent or pay for first and last months' rent in a new unit; and
- WHEREAS, with sufficient notice, tenants may be able to manage their finances to pay a rent increase or save enough to move, but short notice periods of only a month or two make that management or savings less likely and increase the chances that the tenant will have to move; and
- WHEREAS, giving tenants a longer period of notice may decrease the likelihood of moving, and consequently decrease the risk of housing instability or homelessness; and
- WHEREAS, in September 2020 the City of Auburn adopted a law that requires landlords to provide at least 120 days' notice for any rent increase of over five percent; and
- WHEREAS, Portland, Oregon requires landlords to provide at least 90 days' notice for any rent increase over five percent, Vancouver, British Columbia provides 90 days' notice, and Tacoma, Washington provides 60 days' notice; and
- WHEREAS, in April 2019, the Seattle Renters' Commission sent a letter to the Council recommending amendments to Seattle's laws to provide renters with 180 days' notice of a rent increase rather than 60 days; and
- WHEREAS, the Seattle Renters' Commission made clear that "[w]hile Portland, Vancouver, and Tacoma all offer better protections than Seattle, we see Montréal as the example to follow, as even 60 or 90 days is still not enough time for most Seattle tenants to rearrange their lives"; and
  WHEREAS, Montreal requires up to 180 days' notice of a rent increase, depending on the type of lease; and
- WHEREAS, economic displacement has fallen hardest on Black communities and other communities of color, as evidenced by the fact that Seattle's historically Black Central District, which used to be more than 70 percent African American, is today less than 20 percent Black, and that Seattle has been found to be the third most gentrifying city in the country, and

WHEREAS, this gentrification and displacement due to rising rents has an overall deleterious effect on the social fabric of our community, and further magnifies and reinforces historic racial inequities; NOW, THEREFORE,
