Background: Stephanie is currently the Co-Executive Director of Khmer Community of Seattle King County. She has managed major organizational growth and systems change and supports a team of people who provide meaningful impact in the Khmer community by creating culturally-appropriate experiences for elders and youth to gather, connect, and celebrate Khmer identities and culture. Previously, Stephanie was a Naturalist at Seattle Parks and Recreation Department and holds degrees in Urban Environmental Education and Environmental Studies.  Stephanie has a depth of experience providing rapid response and support to community members in the Khmer community and in the South Park community during climate-related weather events, like the December 2022 South Park flooding. Stephanie is a creative and innovative problem solver that brings people from different backgrounds together to find community-identified solutions to everyday problems and emergency situations. She is focused on improving systems and institutions, deepening community relationships, and expanding investments in community spaces to promote climate resiliency.
