What We've Heard

Reimbursement-based grants and other requirements are challenging, especially for grassroots organizations

Application and reporting processes are too difficult

“Too much competing self-interest as well as an absence of technical expertise” in review processes

The Community Investments Division has a key role in achieving the department's mission of strengthening Seattle by engaging all communities.

How We Support This

- Simplify and streamline our processes
- Broaden engagement
- Reduce barriers to participation

Simplify and Streamline Our Processes

Simplified NMF funding opportunities – going from three to two

Created a single application form for both NMF funding opportunities

Simplified match requirements to 1/2:1 for all NMF projects

No application required for Your Voice, Your Choice

Seattle
Neighborhoods

Broaden Engagement

Applied a participatory budgeting approach to Neighborhood Parks and Street Fund

Redesigned project development in Your Voice, Your Choice to be more inclusive

Providing more options to participate or receive information online

Working more closely with our Community Liaison program to engage new communities

Seattle
Neighborhoods

Reduce Barriers to Participation

Increased funding limits for Small Sparks (NMF) from $1,000 to $5,000

Providing up-front funding for DROF projects in 2017

Removed restrictions for community-based groups and District Councils to apply for up to $100,000 through the NMF

Increased NMF application opportunities from one to three times a year for up to $100,000
