Background: Danielle Alvarado is the Executive Director of Fair Work Center and Working Washington and brings a wide range of skills, community relationships, and experiences as an advocate to LSAC. She has served on the Commission since 202. Danielle has more than a decade of experience working in movements for racial and economic justice across the country. She has worked as a legal services attorney in both immigration and employment cases, and understands the many barriers low-income communities face understanding and enforcing their rights. She is passionate about access to justice for immigrants, speakers of other languages, and communities of color and brings a focus on race equity to everything she does. For the past five years she has worked at Fair Work Center, which has partnered with OLS through the Community Outreach and Education Fund program since its inception. As Executive Director, she continues to advocate for labor standards that are well developed and implemented, and that help support Seattle's economy and workforce thrive.
