Background:  M. Dorian Taylor  Dorian is interested in working with the Commission on important issues affecting people with disabilities in Seattle. Being an activist, they do various speaking engagements around community organizing as it relates to dealing with the many issues of accessibility and safety on Metro buses for people with disabilities. Due to systemic violence several years ago, left them unable to walk. But that did not keep them from overcoming those barriers and going on to be part of a kayaking club that helped them deal with life after the incident. They have turned a negative into a positive. In 2016 they qualified for the Para Olympics that made them so proud and happy to be on the 2016 World Championship para-canoe; sprint kayaking team. All the hard work paid off and it was a very special accomplishment that rises to the top for them. They have been attending Commission meetings and actively attending the public safety meetings and were recently elected as chair of the transportation committee. They are committed and excited about all the things they would like to accomplish on the Commission. They are studying paralegal studies at Highline College.
