Background: Connor is currently pursuing a Master of Architecture at UW. He was inspired to move to Seattle and attend UW due to the architecture department's strong connection to its community, and has come to call Seattle home in the two years he's lived here. Recently, he interned with Miller Hull Partnership where he worked on a 3-person team to reimagine the facilities for a local non-profit sailing organization in northeast Seattle. Through this project, he had the chance to directly connect with the clients and community, and found it inspiring & fulfilling to work to empower a group of people to envision a space that would serve the public. This is the spirit he hopes to bring to work with the Design Review Board through the Get Engaged program.
